This second book in the swimming upstream series can be read as a standalone as I did, but I think valuable character and plot insights would be a gained by reading 'Perfection is Just an Illusion', book one in the series. I liked the premise of this book, especially as it plays out. It is a modern day fairytale and an enjoyable read.

It is an "infrared neutron bomb". If you place several tons of iron oxide around a small nuke it will turn it into a massive enhanced radiation weapon. The neutron bomb is not the only enhanced weapon. There is an entire series of these devices such as the X-ray bomb and the EMP bomb. All primaries are nuclear.
