The ego mediates between the id and realities of the world around us, while being supervised (and guilted) by the super-ego. In this new edition of his book, The Ego and the Id, Sigmund Freud delves deeper into the concepts of the human mind and the results of the conflicts and workings between them.

Ego is running the numbers and S.Ego is monitoring our self respect, but Id is the creative innovator. Ego and S.Ego complain that they work harder and have a more important job than Id, so they treat him like a lesser, disposable employee. They bully the id to make it justify its position in the company.

~~Examples of Id, Ego, and Superego~~

The ego — formed to negotiate the id's interactions with reality — and the superego — the critical, moralistic part of the mind — remain in constant conflict with the id's demands. Although the concept of the unconscious was not Freud's own invention, he brought it into popular awareness and pioneered its use in treating mental conditions.
